PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

The sniper plays a unique role in the outcome of military conflict. His ability to pick off important targets at ranges far beyond that of regular units makes him a central battle contributor.

Snipers are employed in all levels of military confrontation from conventional offensive and defensive battle in which precision fire is delivered at long ranges to patrols, ambushes, counter sniper operations, forward observation elements, military operations in urban terrain to retrograde operations as part of forces left behind to engage the enemy within a general retreat. Missing a crucial target and having to try again is not an option in this “one-shot, one-kill” mindset.

The Ghillie Suit is one of the central components of a sniper’s mission success. This innovative camouflage suit is designed to provide the sniper a maximum degree of battle success, making it almost impossible for enemy forces to spot him in just about any natural terrain ranging from dense forests to dry, arid regions.

The Ghillie suits design focuses on three main considerations:

- a. Functionality
- b. Camouflage level
- c. Durability

FUNCTIONALITY

TAR's technicians are fully aware of the unique combat unit requirements of the IDF and other governmental military forces and strive to provide each unit with the highest level of operational capabilities.

All of TAR's products are combat proven, with our Personal Camouflage Systems seeing daily battlefield use by IDF combat units. The Ghillie Suit allows soldiers to move quickly with minimal noise in order to find the most comfortable and effective shooting position.

The Ghillie Suit is light and worn on top of the uniform. It is very easy to manage, allowing the sniper to put it on and take it off with minimum effort.

SUPERIOR DESIGN

The Ghillie camouflage is so effective because it imitates Mother Nature. The suit's distinct vertical orientation that omits any horizontal lines allows it to blend in perfectly with anything that grows (trees, bushes, grass, etc.). This is the primary reason this suit is almost completely invisible to the naked eye as well as various detectors.

TAR's technologies don't incorporate shadow patterns into the Ghillie Suit since shadows tend to be too dark and cause the end user to stick out in open terrain. Instead, shadows in the Ghillie Suit, occur naturally like they would in a natural environment.

DURABILITY

- The Ghillie Suit has been field tested for the highest resistance level in any environment and weather condition.
- The suit's material is sturdy, sewed to perfection, and adaptable to all body sizes.
- The suit is fire & water resistant.
- The full functionality and complete camouflage capacity of the Ghillie Suit along with its tough make enable the sniper to find cover in any natural environment.
